The Child Care & Development Block Grant (CCDBG) is the primary federal grant program that allows states to provide child care assistance to low-income working families with children under age 13. The majority of these funds serve children 6 years or younger, with the remainder supporting care for older children during out-of-school time.

Subsidies help remove barriers to affordable, high-quality child care, whether in center- or home-based settings. They give working parents the ability to access quality care and choose the type of care that works best for them. The majority of funds go directly to providing early learning experiences, but states can also use the funding to:

- Recruit and retain a well-qualified, fairly compensated, and effective workforce
- Support continuous quality improvement
- Meet the child care needs of families working nontraditional hours

How CCDBG Funds Flow

Using an established federal formula, states, territories, and tribal entities receive grant awards from the Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families (ACF).

Parents
Families can use vouchers to help cover the cost of care if a provider/program agrees to accept them.

Providers
Grants and contracts represent agreements between the subsidy program and child care providers to designate slots for subsidy-eligible children.

In Mississippi, 36% of children ages 0-6 are eligible for a CCDBG subsidy under federal rules on average each month. However, of these children 84% are not served due to insufficient federal funding.

Income Eligibility

Given CCDBG is a federal block grant, state Lead Agencies have the flexibility to design their own subsidy programs in compliance with established eligibility and quality requirements and may choose to set their own additional requirements.

The Lead Agency in Mississippi is the Mississippi Department of Human Services.

Families that meet income eligibility and work/job training/education requirements can apply to the Lead Agency for a subsidy. Many families are required to pay a copay, but states may waive those requirements. Families who receive a subsidy may choose any participating child care provider, including center-based care (including faith-based programs), home-based care, and in-home care.
In Mississippi, a family receiving a CCDBG subsidy pays between $10 and $220 out-of-pocket per month.

Children experiencing homelessness (Co-payments are reduced to no more than $10 per month or waived if family experiencing homelessness has no income), and families receiving TANF are exempt from copayments.

CCDBG in COVID-19 Relief
Throughout the pandemic, there was strong bipartisan support for federal relief funding to keep the child care sector afloat. CCDBG was the primary mechanism for providing this relief to child care providers and ensuring access to child care for thousands of working families through CARES, CRRSA, and ARPA.

As of December 31, 2022:

1,090 child care programs in Mississippi received American Rescue Plan Stabilization support, impacting up to 85,100 children.

Providers in 96% of Mississippi counties have received funds, including:

1,020
child care centers

family child care homes

Funds have been used to stabilize and support the early childhood sector. The Child Care Strong grants provided base award payments based on information from the most recent Market Rate Survey regarding the cost of care. Additional funds were given to providers that met certain criteria, such as serving children receiving subsidies and providing 24-hour care.

Federal pandemic relief funding, which buttressed an already struggling child care market, expires in September 2024. As this temporary funding expires, Congress must come together to strengthen and invest in our federal early learning and care programs so families can access the reliable, high-quality, affordable child care they depend on.
