Child Care and Early Education in New Jersey

In New Jersey, federal and state early learning opportunities serve more than 127,246 children and families,¹ or 20% of children birth through age 5.²

High-quality early care and education (ECE) is proven to dramatically improve a child's opportunities for a better future while offering parents greater job stability and overall economic security.

The Economic Impact

Access to affordable, high-quality child care can increase parental labor force participation and family economic stability. However, widespread problems finding and paying for child care adversely affect both state and national economies. As a direct result of child care issues, the national economy loses $122 billion annually in the form of lost earnings, productivity, and revenue.⁷ In New Jersey: The estimated annual economic impact of the infant-toddler child care crisis: $3.6B.⁸

Families Lack Access to High-Quality ECE Options in New Jersey

The high cost and limited supply of quality ECE have created serious challenges for many families.

Unmet Need

638,437 Children Birth Through Age Five³

14% of Children Birth Through Age Five Living in Poverty⁴

68% of Children Birth Through Age Five With All Available Parents in the Workforce⁵

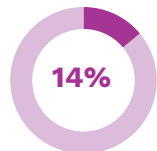

20% of Children Birth Through Age Five Served By Federal- and State-Funded Early Learning Opportunities⁶

Note: 1,2,6: These figures include beneficiaries of Head Start, Early Head Start, CCDF, MIECHV, state-funded Pre-K, and IDEA Parts B, Sec. 619 and C. In some cases, children and families are served by more than one program.

There are several early learning programs that provide working families with access to high-quality, affordable ECE opportunities, but currently the demand for care far outweighs the supply, and funding constraints leave many eligible children unserved. Each of these programs has its own eligibility requirements, purpose, and service delivery model. Together they form a mixed-delivery system that supports parental choice and aims to meet children's individual needs.

Spotlight: ECE Successes in New Jersey

COVID-19 Relief:

Throughout the pandemic, there was strong bipartisan support for federal relief funding to keep the child care sector afloat.

- As a result, 4,355 child care programs in New Jersey received support, impacting up to 348,400 children.⁴¹
- These funds also allowed states to demonstrate what would be possible when equipped with additional resources. Funds have been used to support and stabilize the workforce through one-time $1,000 wage bonuses.*

Preschool Development Grant Birth Through Five (PDG B-5):

PDG B-5 is a competitive federal grant designed to improve states’ early childhood systems. In their 2023 planning grant application, among other uses, New Jersey noted that they would use funding to:

- Coordinate instructional alignment and improved transitions across and within programs serving children from birth to age 8.
- Design and implement an ECE Registered Apprenticeship pilot program, creating a training pipeline of high-quality ECE professionals, with the intention to scale in the future.
